Michael A. Thlerer, PASTOR

Dear Brothers & Sisters,

“And evil shall wax worse and worse.” Just as Scripture declares, we are beginning to see the progression of evil reigning within our land. The voice of evil beckons, and it moves with rampant speed. Insanely, shall WE, as believers answer this call? Then why are we?

It is evident there is spiritual deterioration within our country, the body of Christ and maybe even within our own lives. So many of us have played the fool and are unwittingly (or even wittingly) on our way to returning to our own vomit. Little by little, so many of us have allowed things within our lives that Scripture wants us to deny. We must remember and embrace the Scripture reminding us: He that covereth his sins shall not (spiritually) prosper but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy.

So, how does this rampaging evil affect us? Does it make us become as the complaining nay sayers who shook their heads at disaster, yet refused to lift a hand to do anything about it? Does it make us want to have an “if you can’t beat em join em” attitude? Or, is it our tendency to become emotional? Do we fall apart and walk in the spirits of constant fear and doubt? Do we become depressed? Or does the maddening evil harden our hearts rendering our Christianity useless? Do we simply forget who we are?

There is only one real answer. There is only one way of escape. There is only one way to find peace in the middle of a maddening world. If we want right within our land, we must choose what’s right and then do it. We must focus on our relationship with Christ and follow Him His way. God did not leave His Word here for so it could be ignored. Again, must we be reminded, we are to live clean and holy lives. We already have the power to do this. We simply need to apply ourselves. We can overcome, we can have victory, we can have deliverance. Not only within our own lives, but within the lives of others.

For by the transgression of a land many are the princes thereof: but by a man of understanding and knowledge the state thereof shall be prolonged (Prov 28:2). When the righteous men do rejoice there is great glory but when the wicked rise a man is hidden (Prov 28:12). A prudent man foreseeeth evil and hideth himself (Prov 27:12). Do we choose to have our land prolonged?

Yours to make Christ known loved and enjoyed,

Pastor Michael Thierer
